Team on the Run saves businesses money with new Premium VoIP Call and Push-to-Talk features with the best audio quality on the market

PARIS, FR - Team on the Run (TOTR), the business mobile communication solution, announced today the addition of VoIP Call and Push-to-Talk (Walkie-Talkie) features. These premium additions to the TOTR suite will cut down international calling and roaming costs for businesses by allowing them to talk over the internet with crystal clear audio quality.

Team on the Run saves companies Money and workers Time and Space

The availability of Team on the Run VoIP and Push-to-Talk capability is great news for all types of companies. Businesses with international teams or team members travelling abroad especially, can take advantage of these cost saving features by visiting www.teamontherun.com/en-US/subscribe and creating a Team on the Run account for their business. Team on the Run VoIP Calls will allow companies to reduce roaming costs and international call costs substantially by leveraging the fast-growing global network of Wi-Fi hotspots, and inexpensive mobile data plans.

Even in locations with no 3G/4G such as the site of a remote power line installation or on a flight, if there is Wi-Fi, users can easily and securely talk with the rest of their team through the app.

Team on the Run is committed to being the mobile communication solution for business - an all in one corporate communication toolbox. Securely providing everything needed to work on the go, turns a single device into your personal phone, business phone, international phone, mobile corporate phonebook, secure message and file transfer device and even a walkie-talkie.
